The farm products of Vermont this season will realize $30,000,000, which, declares the New York Commercial Adcertiser, is the best year's showing for the Green Mountain State farmers since the war. Improved methods of culture are largely credited with the prosperity.

The civilized nations of the earth have agreed to co-operate in taking a photographic_chart_of_the_heavens.- Some twenty telescopes are to work four years, and will result in mapping probably twenty-five millions of stars; with longer exposures probably two thousand millions could be photographed.

An expert (Hoard's Dairyman) says: "The cow is winning her way into the hearts of the Southern people. Instead of drink being the rale now among native Americana, it is the exception. It is rarely seen on our drining tables. Church members seldom make a practice of drinking. It is never heard of at ordination, and not often at funerals. Thousands of children have grown up without swer taking a glass of beverage. Total abstinction has become respectable, and druaksmess a disprace. And yet sensible people seriously tell us that our reformatory methods must be given up, because we have made no progress.

cupy them. But if when Pharach comes to resurrection he finds his body looking as I saw his mummy in the museum at Boulac, his soul will become an unwilling tenant. The Sphinx also was to me a stern monstrosity, a statue carved cut of rock of red grantits sixty-two feet high and about one hundred and forty-three feet long, and having the head of a man and the body of a llon.

We sat down in the sand of the African desert to study it. With a coldsmile it has looked down upon thousands of years of earthly history, Egyptian civilization; upon the rise and fall of thrones innumerable, the victory and defeat of the armics of centuries. It took three thousand years to make one wrinkle on its red cheek. It is dresufful in its stoildity. Its eyes have never wept a tear. Its cold ears have not listened to the groans of the Egyptian nation, the hunden of which I tried to weigh last Eabbath. Its heart is stone. It cared not for Pliny when he measured it in the first century. It will care nothing for the man who looks into its impertubable countenance in the last century.

not for Pliny when he measure! it in the first century. It will care nothing for the man who looks into its impertubable countenance is the last century.

But Egypt will yet come up to the glow of life. The Eible promises it. The mission-aries, like my friend, good and great Dr. Lansing, are sounding a resurrection frumpet above those slain empires. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There will be some other Moses on the banks of the Nile. There is a day. When, som after my antion born in a day. When, som after my arrival in Egypt, I took part in the solemn and tender obsequies of a missionary from our own land, dying there far away from the sepulchers of her fathers, and saw around her the durky and weeping congregation of those she had come to save, I said to myself: "Here is self sacrifice of the noblest type: Here is neroism immortal. Here is a queen unto God forever. Here is something grander than the pyramids. Here is that which thrills the heavens. Here is a specimen of that which will yet save the world." Goodby, Egypt: This sermon finds m on their reminiscence. What Bradshaw's directory is to travelers in Europa, and what the rail-read guide is to travelers it America, the Book of the Acts in the Bible is to voyagers in the Grecian, or, as I shall call it, the Gopolite direction to that which Paul voyaged. He was sailing southward and we northward. With him it was Ephesus, Coos, Ebodea, Cyprus, With un it is reversed, and it is Cyprus, Rhodes, Coos, Ephesus. There is no book in the world.

My text says that Paul left Cyprus on the left; we, going in an opposite direction, have it on the right. On our ship Minerva were only two or-three passengers besides our party, so we had plenty of room to walk the deck, and oh, what a night was Christmas night of 1989 in that Grecian archipelago—thands of light abova, islands of beauty beneath! It is a royal family of islands, this Gwelan archipelago—the crown of the world's scenery set with sayohira and emerald Gwrian archipeiago—the crown of the world's scenary set with sapphire and emerald and topus and chrysoprasm, and ablase with a glory that seems let down out of celestial landscapes. God svidently made up His mind that just here He would demonstrate the utmost that can be done with islands for the beautification of earthly scenery.

The stanmer had stopped during the night, and in the morning the ship was as quiet as this floor, when we hastened up to the dock and found that we had anchored off the island of Cyprus. In a boat, which the natives rowed standing up, as is the custom, instead of sitting down, as when we row, we were soon landed on the streets where Paul and Barnabas walked and preached. Yea, when at Antioch, Paul and Barnabas god into a fight—as ministers actuetimes did, and sometimes do, for they all have imperfections enough to anchor them to this world till their work is done, I say—when, because of that bitter controversy, Paul and Barnabas parted. Barnabas came back here to Cyprus, which was his birthplace. Island, wenderful for history! It has been the prist sometimes won by Persia, by Greece, by Egypt, by the Sarceens, by the Crusaders, and last of all, not by sword but by pen, and that the pen of the keenest diplomatist of the century, Lord Beaconsfield, who, under a lease which was as good as a purchase, set Cyprus among the jewels of Victoria's crown.

We went out into the executations from which Di Cemola his enriched our America's tease which was as good as a purchase, sel Cyprus among the jewels of Victoria's crown.

We went out into the excavations from which Di Cemola has enriched our Americas museums with antiquities, and with no. better weapon than our foot we stirred up the ground deep enough to get a tear bottle is which some mourner shed his tears thousands of years ago, and a lamp which before Christ was born lighted the feet of some poor pilgrim on his way. That island of Cyprus has enough to set an antiquarian wild. The most of its giory is the grory of the past, and the typhoid fevers that swept its coast, and the typhoid fevers that swept its coast, and the clouds of locusts that often blacken its slies (though two hundred thousand dollars were expended by the British empire in one year for the extirpation of three norious insects, yet falling to do the work), and the frequent change of governmental masters hinder prosperity.

But when the islands of the sea come to God, Cyprus will come with them, and the agricultural and commercial endlence which adorsed it in ages past will be eclipsed by the agricultural and commercial and religious things? Occliners is profitable not only for individuals, but for nations. Quustions of tariff, questions of silver bill, questions of republic or monarchy have not so much to do with a nation's temporal walfare as questions of religion. Give Cyprus to Christigive England to, Christ, give America to Christ, give the world to Christ, and He will give them all a prosperity unlimited. Goodby, Egypt! Although interesting and instructive beyond any country in all the world, excepting the Holy Land, Egypt was to me somewhat depressing. It was a post mortem examination of cities that died four thousand years ago. The mummies, or wrapped up bodies of the dead, were prepared with reference to the Resurration day, the Egyptians departing this life wanting their bodies to be kept in as good conditions as possible so that they would be presentable when they were called again to occupy them. But if when Pharsoh comes to resurrection he finds his body looking as I saw his munmy in the museum at Boulac, his soul will become an unwilling teach.

As we come toward it I feel my pulses quicken. "I John, was in the island hat is called Patmoa." It is a pile of rocks by entry eight miles in circumference. A few fyresses and inferior olives young a Riving out of the earth, and one paim tree spreading out of the earth, and one paim tree spreading for the banished evangelist.

Domitian could not stand his ministry, and one day, under armed guard, that minister of the Gospel stepped from a tossing boat to these dismal rocks and walked up to the dismal caver which was to be his home and the place where should pass before him all the corflicts of coming times and all the raptures of a coming eternity. Is it not remarkable that nearity all the great revisitions of music and postry and religion have been made to men in banishment—Homer and Milton banished into bindness; Bestboren banished into earness; Dante writing his "Divina Commedia" during the mintend of Guernesey, and the brightest visions of the fature have been imprisoned by very sixty of the fature have been imprisoned by very hard surroundings have been imprisoned by the search of best place in all the earth for place were before saw or ever will see in this wardy and hence the gloom of his surrounding to the place affected it. St. John hears the waves of the sea wildly jashing against the rocks, and each waves as a voice, and all the waves together make a chorus, and they remind him of the multitudinous anthems of heaven, and he says. "They are like the voice of many waters." Due day, as he looked off upon the sea, the waters were very smooth, as it is to-day while we sail them in the Minerva, and they were like glass, and the smultipht seemed to set them on fire, and there was a mingling of white light and intense fiame, and as St. John looked out from his cavern home upon that brilliant sea he thought of the splendors of heaven and describes them "As a sea of glass mingled with fire." Yes, seated in the dark cavern of Patmos, though homesick and huagry and loaded with Domitian's anathemas, ht. John was the most fortunate man on earth breause of the panorama that passed before the mouth of that cavern.

Turn down all the lights that we may better see it. The panorama passes, and lot the conquering Christ, robe is girlled, armed, the flash of golden candlesticks and seven stars in His right hand, candesticks and stars meaning light held up and light scattered.

Our friends had all gome to their berths.

"Captain," I mid, "when will we arrive at the Island of Rhodes?" Looking out from moder his glazal cap, he responded in sepulchral vices, "About midnight." Though it would be keeping unreasonable hours, I consinded to stay on deck, for I must see Rhodes, one of the islands associated with the name of the greatest missionary the world ever saw or ever will see. Paul landed there, and that was ecough to make it famous while the world stands, and famous in heaven when the world stands, and famous in heaven when the world has become a charred wreck.

This island has had a wonderful history, with six thousand Knights of St. John, it at one time stood out against two hundred thousand, warriors under "Solyman the Magnificent." The city had three thousand ratines, and a status to Apollo called Colosus, which has always since been considered one of the evere wonders of the world. WHY NOT GET WHAT YOU WANT?

You have wasted many an hour trying to make the Cook Stove do its duty, but it smokes and won't bake right nor burn right. If you could only get a Quaker that would save your fuel and give you all the late conveniences, how much lighter your work would be.

WHY NOT GET WHAT YOU WANT?

You notice signs of Thanksgiving nearness and you wonder how you are going to manage when Mary and Will and the Jones's come to dimer on that day. You say "we will have to have a first and a second table for we haven't enough of D shes or Kurres and Forks and the Table is too small any way."

WHY NOT GET WHAT

issued a few years ago. Where are they now! A few are in the cabinets of coin collectors. None have been returned to the mint for recoinage or held by the Treasury. Nobody sees them in circulation. All of them except some hundreds saved out by curio hunters have absolutely disappeared. Of the old copper pennies, 119,000,000 still remain unaccounted for, save that once in a long while one sees a specimen. There are more than 3,000,000 bronze two cent pieces somewhere out of 4,500,000 of them that the Government issued. Of nickel three-cent pieces, nearly, 2,000,- 000 are yet outstanding, although it is seldom that one of them is come across. In the Treasury at Washington one day the question came up as to the weight of a dollar bill. Scales of perfect accuracy were brought into requisition, and the surprising discovery was made that twenty-seven one-dollar notes weighed exactly as much as a twenty-dollar gold piece. The latter just balances 540 grains. However, the bills weighed were perfectly crisp and new. Trial made with soiled notes, such as come in every day for redemption, showed that twentyseven of them weighed considerable more than the $20 coin. Every paper dollar on its way through the world continually accumulates dirt, so that after a year of use it is perceptibly heavier.

Speaking of the redemption of pape money, a very novel and interesting ap-plication was made the other day to the division of the Treasury which has this business in hand. The story, as it came out, was as follows:

An ingenious youth employed to sweep out a New York bank devoted attention for a considerable period to gathering up the crumbs from the tills in the shape of corners and other bits of notes such as get torn off and fall about in any place where dollars are counted. In the course of time he got together a quantity of scraps of the sort sufficient to fill a pint measure, and he sent them on to the Redemption Bureau, at Washington, in a box, with the explanation that they had been eaten by mice. He stated the amount at $200, and asked for new bills in exchange. His little game was betrayed on the face of it by the fact that the pieces forwarded rep-resented, if anything, not less than $1000. The usual affidavit was demanded from him, swearing to his loss; but

A few days ago an old colored man from across the Potomac in Virginia brought to the Treasury an extraordinary looking lump of metal. He said that it was a lot of silver dollars, halves and quarters, which he had put in a tin can some years back and hidden in the stone wall of a barn by removing a stone and plastering up the orifice. When recently he took out the box, he found that trickling water had rusted it almost away, covering the coins with oxide of iron and sticking them together in a mass. Assistant Treasurer Whelpley had the lump put in acid and treated with lys and sawdust, so that the silver pieces came out as pretty and bright as when they were minted, and the old man car-ried them away delighted. - New York

Mrs. Tompkins...Don't you think my new hat is delightfully flat?

Mr. Tompkins—Yes, but it isn't in it with my pocketbook.—[New York

What would jou think if some one that you knew to be responsible would offer to give you a well stocked general store for one year's work? You would, no doubt, consider it big ray and jump at the chance. Well, such things have been done and are being done right arong. Messra, B. F. Johnson & Lo., of Richmond, Va., number among their employes many men who earn the value of a first class store every year. W. F. Daris worked for them awhile, then opened a snug general atore at litch's Wharf, Maithews County, Va., and wrote this firm as follows: "I can only say that I give your business credit for what I am. If I were to meet with any bad luck, or loss what I have made, I am proud to say that I could go to you for employment and soon make another store." They can show you how to double and treble your income, if you are not income, if you are in any business at all, they will enable you to be in a short time, if you will take their alvice. They want a good henest man or woman in every country in the Union to manage a business that will yield handsome returns. Write them at once for information.

Taking butter from milk was known in the earliest times. It was left for our time to make a milk of codliver oil.

Milk, the emulsion of butter, is an easier food than butter. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is an easier food than cod-liver oil. It is rest for digestion. It stimulates. helps, restores, digestion; and, at the same time, supplies the body a kind of nourishment it can get in no other way.
